The purpose of the Certified Fire Protection Specialist credential is to recognize, through certification, qualified individuals who are dedicated to curtailing fire loss, both physical and financial and who have acquired a level of professionalism through applied work experiences and related education opportunities and through successful completion of a certification examination.

The goal of the CFPS program is to promote the discipline of fire protection and prevention. A specific degree is not mandatory for obtaining your CFPS designation. The credential is a balance of education and experience and provides an opportunity for the fire protection specialist to achieve professional recognition. The National Fire Protection Association maintains certification and recertification criteria as related to fire protection specialists.

Studies have shown that individuals that attain International Certification are more likely to achieve higher salaries and be promoted over those individuals that are not.

Certified Fire Protection Specialist (CFPS) awarded by The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA)

The Certified Fire Protection Specialist (CFPS) credential was created in 1971 for the purpose of documenting competency and offering professional recognition for individuals involved in curtailing fire loss, both physical and financial.

Since then, CFPS has been awarded to more than 4,000 people who have demonstrated a level of professionalism through applied work experience, related education opportunities, and successful completion of a certification examination.

CFPS[®] certification holders attain the knowledge and proficiency required to ensure the highest level of fire protection for organization and facility. It is an internationally recognized credential commitment to fire protection and distinguishes you as someone who is willing to invest the time and effort to enhance your career.

NFPA is a global self-funded nonprofit organization in USA, established in 1896, devoted to eliminating death, injury, property, and economic loss due to fire, electrical and related hazards.
